Peartree Way Nursery School Special Educational Needs (SEN) Information Report

1. How does the school know if children need extra help and what should I do if I think my child may have special educational needs?

The development of all children is monitored on entry and periodically throughout their time with us. Children presenting below age expectations will be identified and their learning will be discussed with their parents/carers so that together we can plan to support them appropriately. Those children will be highlighted to all adults working with them and the Special Educational Needs Co-coordinator (SENCO) so that everyone who comes into contact with each child knows how to help them. High quality teaching and interactions will target the areas where support is needed. Parents will be kept fully informed of this at during regular meetings and contacts throughout the year. If progress continues to be less than expected it may be necessary to put additional support in place and a thorough assessment of a child's needs takes place. This will be supported by the SENCO and includes the views of the parents and child concerned. If there are indications of a range of learning difficulties then the child will be recorded as having special educational needs (SEN). Parents will be informed and involved throughout this process. Parents who are concerned that their child may have SEN issues should in the first case talk to their child's teacher. At Peartree Way we have two qualified teachers and a number of Level 3 qualified and experienced keyworkers. As we work together to support the children's development, all staff will be referred to as 'teachers' throughout this document.

2. How will school staff support my child?

If a child has been identified as making less than expected progress the first response is high quality teaching targeted at their areas where support is needed. If progress continues to be less than expected it may be necessary for the teacher to organise additional support or targeted intervention. Individual support will be led by a trained adult; different teaching resources may be used. This will usually take place within the classroom as part of the session to maximize the impact. However, children may be withdrawn if the need to be in a quiet space to listen without distractions. Interventions can range from a short daily session to longer less frequent sessions a week depending on the need of each child. It is the teacher's responsibility to provide for children with SEN in the class and to follow the school's procedures for identifying, assessing and making provision to meet those needs. Where the interventions involve teaching away from the main class the teacher still retains responsibility for the child and works closely with support staff to plan and assess the impact of the interventions and how they can be linked back to classroom teaching. The SENCO provides advice, monitoring, and links with outside agencies. There is a school governor for SEN who oversees the school's work with SEN and ensures the quality of provision is regularly monitored.

3. How will I know how my child is doing?

Our high expectations of each child at Peartree Way Nursery School coupled with planning to meet their needs usually ensures that children are making at least expected progress and frequently better than expected progress. However, some children still require additional support in spite of this. Where a child requires additional support parents are informed and targeted intervention is put in place. This support is monitored closely by both class teacher and SENCO and regularly modified. Most interventions take place over 1 or 2 terms and progress is reported back to parents at parent consultations or more regularly if needed. The effectiveness of the school's provision for children with SEND is evaluated, reported to governors and monitored by OFSTED.

4. How will the learning and development provision be matched to my child's needs?

A detailed assessment which draws on the teacher's assessment and experience of the child, their previous progress and attainment, their development in comparison to their peers, the views and experiences of parents and the child's own views takes place. This ensures that any barriers to learning are identified and effective provision suited to a child's specific needs is implemented. Children are consulted throughout the whole process and are key to decisions about what support is needed and will yield most impact. When children cannot communicate with words their reactions and emotions are observed closely so that their feelings are always respected.

5. What support will there be for my child's overall well being?

We liaise with the Family Centre team and other professionals to support our staff who are trained to provide support for children's social, emotional and mental health needs. All staff are highly skilled in implementing personalised effective behaviour strategies and working closely together with parents and children to develop strategies that can also be consistently used at home. Children have regular opportunities to speak to the key staff members when they need advice, guidance or support. The school has a Behaviour Management Policy which is published on the school website. The school adheres to the statutory guidance 'Supporting pupils at school with medical conditions' and all medication is kept in a secure place and is only administered by designated people. Individual health care plans are written for children and staff with medical conditions and shared with all staff who work with the child including lunch time staff.

In some instances, this will require referring a child to access a specialist support service.

There is an assigned Speech and Language Therapist who works with the school.

6. What specialist services and expertise are available at or accessed by the school?

All staff have been trained to recognise indications of SEN. Individuals have developed skills in supporting needs including behaviour support, autism, communication, language and literacy difficulties, early reading support, difficulties with physical skills including dyspraxia, speech and language and signing. The school can also access outreach services through the Family Centre and Greenside Special School.

7. What training have the staff, supporting children with SEND, had or are having?

Staff are trained in First Aid and Safeguarding. There are specially trained paediatric first aiders and designated staff (DSLs) for safeguarding concerns. Some of our Early Years staff have been trained by speech therapists so that an accurate assessment of a child's language needs is done on entry to school and appropriate provision implemented. Other staff have been trained in Speech and Language Support, Autism, dyslexia, reading skills intervention, behaviour strategies, gross and fine motor skills difficulties e.g. dyspraxia, sign language, communication in print. All keyworkers are trained to a minimum of NVQ Level 2, with the vast majority holding a Level 3 qualification. Training is refreshed regularly and all opportunities for additional training are sought to ensure that staff have an up to date working knowledge of SEND issues and current legislation.

8. How will you help me to support my child's learning?

Focus Week feedback meetings are held each term to keep parents fully informed of their child's progress. Parents are involved in reviews where extra support has been put in place and their views are sought at each opportunity to help support their child's learning. Children are encouraged to try out activities at home so that parents are able to see what their children are able to achieve independently and support them with their learning if necessary. Fortnightly 'Window on our World' information is shared via email, Facebook and printed posters so that parents are informed about the areas the children are working on and their particular current interests. The Support Co-ordinator has access to a wide range of support from local agencies and services and is able to signpost parents effectively.

9. How will I be involved in discussions about and planning for my child's education?

There are formal occasions such as Parent's consultation meetings where parents are involved in discussions about their child's education. Although the COVID-19 pandemic has limited some contact, we maintain an 'open door' policy where possible to support parents to speak to a teacher before or after school to pass on a message/ piece of information or plan a meeting where a longer discussion may be needed. Parents are able to telephone to arrange for a teacher to call them back or email their child's teacher if there is a particular issue they wish to discuss. Teachers will make at least four formal contacts each term through meetings, phone calls and emails. Parents are represented on the school governing board. Parents of children with SEN are regularly involved in discussions through reviews.

10. How will my child be included in activities outside the classroom including school trips?

For all school trips a risk assessment is undertaken to ensure that each child is kept safe from harm. All children with SEND are included on all school trips and, when appropriate, additional staff are deployed. Parents are consulted to ensure full participation and active engagement of all children.

11. How accessible is the school environment?

The school is fully compliant with the Equality Act and reasonable adjustments are made for all children with SEND where necessary. Support is provided where appropriate for children with SEN needs and advice is sought from the appropriate medical/health professionals to ensure all children's needs are supported. Specialised equipment health and physical needs are catered for within the school environment.

12. Who can I contact for further information?

The head teacher can be contacted by telephone or email and is available to meet with parents if you have any concerns about your child. You may feel it is more appropriate to speak to your child's teacher with any initial queries. If you wish to make a complaint the school has a complaints procedure which is available from the school office and published on our website.

There is a comprehensive transition programme in place run by the School's Support Coordinator, for children new to the school or leaving the school. The level of support offered is dependent on each child's needs, age and development. If you have any concerns that your child is worried about changes or moving on, please contact your child's keyworker.

The school has an amount identified within its overall budget to support children with SEN. This is used for resources to support the progress of children with SEN, to employ practitioners to meet the needs of children with SEN, buy specialist equipment or provide specialised training for staff. Where a child requires provision which exceeds the nationally prescribed threshold additional, top-up funding can be applied for through the local authority called Early Years Inclusion Funding and Local High Needs Funding.

15. How is the decision made about how much support my child will receive?

The amount and type of support offered to a child is determined by a detailed analysis of a child's needs, hurdles to learning, stage of development, parental views, their own views and consultation with their class teacher. This support is reviewed regularly with amendments being made to the programme of support. Interventions typically last between 1 and 2 terms with the emphasis being on early identification and targeted effective support to minimise any long term need for additional support.

16. How can I find information about the local authority's Local Offer of services and provision for children and young people with special educational needs and disability?

The authority's local offer of services and provision for children and young people with SEN can be accessed at www.hertsdirect.org/localoffer

The Hertfordshire Autism Quality Offer aligns with the SEND Quality Offer - Hertfordshire's statement on high quality provision and outcomes for children and young people with special educational needs and disabilities. The Autism Quality Offer describes the special educational provision that settings are encouraged to have available for children and young people who have autism or social communication needs and includes links to resources and training available to settings across Hertfordshire.
